

“WE SHOULD TALK”

ProAct Informational Meeting with Parents/Guardians

At the request of parents and guardians who attended the Informational Meeting in May, we are going ahead with a second session in October to discuss some new issues that have emerged and delve further into the known threats to client services. Recently released information on the new Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act and its potential to impact the lives of people with disabilities will be reviewed and discussed, together with DWRS and Extended Employment.

ProAct CEO Steve Ditschler and Program Director Carolyn Dobis invite all parents and guardians of ProAct Eagan participants to a meeting and exchange views on October 13. We will gain a better understanding of how state and county officials will act and the impact that could have on the services individuals currently receive.
